THE ONLY conceivable explanation of grade of commissioned officers in the army whom he has betrayed and injured, the Gettysburg in 1874. General's hatred for the people he has so He knows that almost every boy in the care of himself was in some branch of the Confederate service, and would have been disowned by his sisters if he hadn't been, and he sees every day men who, while he, well fed, was on horseback, were tramping along behind him hungry, foot-sore and conciliatory assertion that "God knows for burial. which side was right," and then, when, ber and voted that no man who had ever been in the Confederate service should hold a commission in the army or navy. He voted with the men who not only wish to perpetgate the animosity of the war, but to dishoner and disgrace his own vanquished side rank of officers in the service of a reunited and common country.

There has been no sadder event of recent occurrence than the finding of the dead bodies of Captain DeLongand his daring crew. Had they gone down with their ship or perished on their way to the shore their fate perished on their way to the shore their fate would have not been so sad, because not entirely unexpected, but to have died after support it are Messrs. Barbour and Wise, of reaching the land, when almost in sign of succor, and when another boats' crew was saved, is sufficient to evoke the sympathetic emotions of the most stoical reader.

Another one of the members of General Mahone's Legislature has received an office. General W. M. FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alex'a. Gazette.] WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6, 1882.-The President, in compliance with the desire of General Grant, and, it is understood, to placate him for refusing to make his friend, General Beall, Secretary of the Navy, has pardoned General Fitz-John Porter. This action relieves General Porter of the civil disabilities imposed upon him by the findings of the court-martial, and will allow rank in the army it may think fit to bestow upon him.

The House Committee on Commerce, in accordance with the recommendations of the Lighthouse Board, have reported adversely upon Mr. Garrison's bill for a lighthouse at Russ Rock, Rappahannock River, and for lighted beacons at Pongateague, Eastern Shore of Virginia.

The quarrel between Messrs. Hoar and Rollins on the floor of the Senate yesterday afternoon is the talk of the Capitol to-day, and the published reports of it are said to be by no means exaggerated.

The paragraph that appeared in this correspondence on Thursday last, to the effect that charges had been prefered against Col. A scene took place in the Senate chamber Thursday morning between Senators Hoar, Massachusetts, and Rollins, of New Hampshire. Senator Hoar approached Senator Rollins, and severely upbraided him for his position in the contest over Colonel Worthington's nomination as collector of the port of Boston, and used language which was neither choice nor elegant. Senator Rollius replied quite sharply, saying that he had supported the administration, and was about to proceed when Senator Hoar again interrupted, and at this time a number of Senators came between them and persuaded Senator Hoar to withdraw. Senator Rollins is very angry and openly states his intention never to recognize Senator Hoar again.

Chesapeake Presbytery.

[Reported for the Alexandria Gazette.] The Cesapeake Presbytery met at Warrenton, May 3rd, at 11 a. m., and was opened with a sermon by the Moderator, Rev. P. Strider, from the text "And who is my neighbor?" Luke x. 29. It was a discourse of remarkable eloquence and power. The following members were present during the sessions: Ministers; A. D. Pollock, A. W. Oscar Braden, Catoctin; Chase Andrews, Central Church; G. D. Gray, Culpeper; S. G. Catlett, Greenwich; Wm. Irvine, Hartwood; Ro. Harper, Leesburg; J. H. Ensor Grove; D. B. Croushorn, Litchfield; W. E. Glassell, Salem; James V. Brooke, Warrenton, and W. C. Peaston, Rapidan.

T. P. Epes was elected Moderator, and James H. Smith and Ro. Harper temporary A petition from Cumberland Church asking for the services of J. Calvin Stewart, a candidate for licensure in this Presbytery, was answered as follows: Presbytery having carefully considered the communication from Cumberland from one of our own churches for the services of Bro. Stewart, is of opinion that it is his duty to remain with us, and engage in work under direction of Presbytery.

A call from Catoctin Church for the pastoral services of Rev. L. B. Turnbull, and a remonstrance from Farmwell Church against any change in his pastoral relations to them, were referred back to these churches for further consideration among themselves.

Messrs. Dinwiddie, Epes, and Smith, ap-pointed a special Committee to consider the abject made the following report which was unamiously adopted.

The Committee to examine the subject. eport recommending to Presbytery the adoption of the following overture to Synod: The Presbytery of Chesapeake respectful-overtures the Synod of Virginia asking the reconsideration of its deliverance in the report adopted by Synod at Petersburg, 1881 (see minutes p. 108), on "the na ture and extent of the authority and care given to our Presbyteries in the training of candidates for the ministry.'

1. We dissent from the second paragraph of the report adopted, which is as follows: The standards of our Church, and the almost uniform usage under them, regard those seeking the ministry in this Church as bound at least when entering upon their theological studies, to place themselves under the care some Presbytery, most naturally, that within the bounds of which the student rewhen entering upon their theological studies, to place themselves under the care of some

2. We dissent even more strongly from the third paragraph of the report which is practice define the nature and extent of the authority of the Presbyteries overtheir candidates as similar in kind and degree to that exercised by the Presbyteries over their ministers." We find nothing in the Standards to this effect. On the contrary, when the minister is amenable to his Presbytery, the candidate is to his Church Session.

A call from the Church at Ellicott City, Baltimore Presbytery, for the pastoral services of Rev. H. Branch was put into his hands, accepted by him, and he was dismissed to the Presbytery of Baltimore.

Presbytery in dismissing Bro. Branch adopted the following paper;—Resolved, That it is with unmixed regret that this Presbytery has been called to part with Rev. H. Branch, and that our prayers and best wishes go with him and remain with him. Rev. Messers Myer and Turpin of the Baptist Church and Rev. Messers Canter and Dr. Poulson of the Methodist Church were invited to seats as visiting brethren, and formally introduced to Presbytery. A. W. Pitzer and J. H. Enderle, Ruling Elder of Central Church were elected Commissioners to the General Assembly. William Dinwiddie and James V. Brooke, were elected as Alternate Commissioners.

Mr.J.Calvin Stewart was examined on experimental religion and his motives for seeking the ministry, also on Theology, Church History, Church Government and the Sacraments. He further delivered a sermon before cise. All these parts of his trial and the others required by the form of Government having been approved by the Presbytery as satisfactory, he was then licensed as a probationer for the ministry and on request of the Salem Church assigned as their stated supply for one year. Excellent congregations attended the preaching twice daily during the sessions of berg's.

the Presbytery, and the attention was close and solemn. The deliberations of Presbytery were most harmonious and delightful and the hospitality of Warrenton, as always charming. Salem (Marshall) was chosen as the place and 20th Sept.; at 11 a. m., as the time for the next stated meeting.
